

Project Update: December 2013

I'm now coming to the end of my PhD and have founded a not-for-profit organisation called Bats without Borders (registered Scottish charity) to continue with research and conservation projects in southern Africa. Our website is now up and running, check out www.batswithoutborders.org and if you are on Twitter follow us @bats_w_borders