

Project Update: September 2015

The work continues according to our schedule; in collaboration with "Young Biologists Association" we already organised three of four planned education events. The fourth in Ijevan is planned for the beginning of September 2015 because of extremal heat we are having here. These are the links with the reports:

Everything went very well, together with participants we could catch some really rare plants in bloom, to visit Important Plant Areas and other.

I attached some photos, illustrating our work. Staff members of Zangezour Biosphere Complex (we are four on the photo, them, me and Maria from YBA) and a lecturer from Vanadzor State University were involved too, they shared their experience in conservation of the local biodiversity.
