

Project Update: June 2013

1. Selection of 12 sampling sites or systems land uses at Havana-Matanzas Plain.
2. Selection of two systems for each land uses - two secondary forests in natural regeneration; two naturalised pastures without trees and with livestock management of characteristics intensive rational rotational; two pastures with trees, silvopastoral management and livestock activity of characteristics intensive rational rotational; two varied crops and two sugarcane systems with intensive management; and two agroecological ranches under organic management.
3. Definition of two sampling times in the project: 1. Between June and July 2013 as representation of rainy season; and 2. Between November and December 2013 as representation of dry season.
4. Collection of soil macrofauna in the field concerning to the rainy season, until moment in forest, varied crops and sugarcane systems.
5. Collection and compilation of pictures of soil macrofauna committed to educational material.

