

Project Update: February 2014

Various project activities have been performed since September 2013. The last planned field work for the season was done in September, by which the preparations for the field activities in 2014 were completed.

After that, members of the project team started to create the leaflets and posters promoting diversity and protection of the populations of nesting birds in the studied area. Leaflets intended for promotion of birdwatching tourism at these mountains were also created.

In the final phase, all the necessary materials were created for the presentations that will be realized in the forthcoming period, before the beginning of the field activities planned for this year.

Leaflet for the promotion of birdwatching in the researched area. Photo by Dubravko Dender

Leaflet for the promotion of diversity and protection of birds in the researched area. Photo by Dubravko Dender

