

Project Update: April 2014

The communitarian workshop about culture and propagation of vascular epiphyte took place from 13th-15th March 2014 in Community La 23, Guamuhaya range, attended by 25 people not only from the hostess community but also of the neighbouring ones: La 22, La Ceiba, La 9 and Pitajones. The idea arises as a result of the preliminary diagnosis where local people requested this training. The theoretical chat focused on cultivation and propagation of the different species, where we delivered didactic brochures and bibliographical material with summarised information as guide to cultivate these plants. The practical activity was centered in the sowing of these plants on trunks of trees of the communitarian and thematic garden, where participants could put into practice the theoretical knowledge. Also it was a perfect moment to launch the contest “Looking for a name and a logo for the thematic communitarian garden”, beginning this way its campaign of communication.

Top left: Communitarian sowing epiphytes on trees small. Top right: Group photo at the communitarian epiphyte garden small. Bottom left: Showing how to sow epiphytes on trees small. Bottom right: Theoretical chat on vascular epiphyte culture and propagation small.