

Project Update: October 2014

The project has been progressing well with desired results. We have also managed to rope in the Wildlife Trust of India (WTI), a premier wildlife institution in the country for the project. The partnership with WTI will help us involve important stakeholders like the state departments in taking proactive decisions to enable safe refuge for the gaur in urban landscapes, creating awareness and at the same time ensuring the safety of the general public.

Please find below the link to a news article featured in the WTI website.
<http://wti.org.in/NewsDetails.aspx?NewsId=1279>