

Project Update: September 2015

Participatory learning and action exercise is going on in the proposed villages. We have done PLA in the three villages so far. Institutions building including 'creative women forums' and 'creative children's forms' have been also formed to carry out proposed biodiversity conservation activities in the area. Environment building phase plays a vital role to facilitate all the activities in the program. Therefore, we are getting a very good response and participation from local community during PLA exercise.
