

Project Update: May 2015

The project of beekeeping and restoration of Magomberera forest is going on.

We train students and local people on importance of the forest, how to conserve the forest, what are the threats affecting the forest and much more. The training on various issues about the project will be stage by stage.

We also start preparing beehives in participation with students and local people so that they can be aware of good beehives for modern beekeeping.
