

Project Update: January 2017

As per the project proposal, we have completed the construction of fisher net repairing sheds in two villages. Yesterday our first shed was opened with local community in one village, and the opening fisher net repairing shed at the second village will be organised by the community tomorrow.

Please find the attached photos of shed opening ceremony and my presentation at IUCN World Conservation Congress held at Hawaii, USA in September 2016, where I presented our organisation's activities to international audience, and the website of project progress is attached hereby.

All the project activities with monthly progress is available in this link at our website

Left: First meeting at the newly constructed shed. Right: OMCAR and villagers agreed for seagrass conservation and sustainable fishery.

Left: Vallavanpattinam group photo. Right: OMCAR presentation at IUCN WCC 2016 Hawaii USA.