1.0 School based owl conservation awareness camps:

Target: 50 - Completed: 65

School level owl conservation awareness camps have been completed in Okhaldhunga, Khotang and Bhojpur districts of Eastern Nepal. Students from 22 schools actively participated in the camp. Till now, 65 camps have been completed which included 1708 students. Students basically got the introduction about owls, their ecology, threats to owl conservation in Nepal, importance of owl conservation and students' roles in owl conservation. Information about the captive owls kept in the area was collected from students. They were also motivated to contribute towards owl conservation locally.

School level owl conservation awareness camps started with quick survey on owls. This included questions of students seeing or hearing owls, killing of owls, owning catapults and such. It was followed by filling up of pre-evaluation form by groups of students. After this, different owl sounds were played via external speakers. Then, characteristics of owls were described followed by reasons why owls are important and why they should be conserved. Then, the students were told about threats to owl in Nepal and what can be done to conserve them. They were also instructed what to do in case of injured or captive owls. Finally, they were given post-evaluation form to be filled collectively by groups.

7.0 Owl conservation booklet in Nepali language

Target: 1 - Completed: 2 (draft is ready and editing is on progress)

First book: Latokosero ki Bathokosero?

Owls are known as Latokosero in Nepali which implies fool or stupid. Hence the book title asks whether they are really fool as their name suggest or intelligent as their behavior shows. This book will describe overall information about owls, threats, conservation, hunting and trade, cultural knowledge, medicinal knowledge, story, government policy and so on. It will be printed in 100 colorful pages and will not be distributed freely. Instead this will help for generating fund for future 'Nepal Owl Festival'. We are planning to publish 500 copies at least. We will keep small amount as price (£3-4 per book) for fundraising event.

Second book: Owls of Nepal

This book will describe all the owl species recorded in Nepal. This will describe, in detail, about each of the species found in Nepal. It will have around 60 colorful pages. A total of 400 books will be printed. We have already ordered illustrations for this which seems most expensive part of the book, which we never thought before. Nevertheless, we will distribute freely and put it in online too.
