

Project Update: September 2017

Our team is happy to inform you that the project started well. We succeeded in laying down administrative and customary commitments during which time the team received their research permits and a very cordial relationship created with the reserve's conservator (Mr Sanga).

During this phase, we actually did the bird survey and administered our questionnaires in the respective villages of the study site. I must say it was an amazing phase.

