

Project Update: July 2018

As part of the project developed in the Las Ventanas Community Forestry Concession, we have recorded the presence of the white-lipped peccary, jaguar and puma, among other species. This information is fascinating, determining the presence of megafauna within the concession. These species have been photographed by camera traps installed in bodies of water and transects. We have also identified the presence of fruits (Manilkara chicle and Brosimum alicastrum) in the soil. These fruits are consumed by ungulates and rodents present in the area. The work in the field continue, with the support of Melvin Garcia, Francisco Cordova, with the support of the Arbol Verde Civil Society.

Jaguar male, Las Ventanas, Maya Biosphere Reserve.

87F31C 06-11-2018 12:17:42
Group of 20 individuals of white-lipped peccaries, Las Ventanas, Maya Biosphere Reserve.