

Project Update: March 2018

In March, 2018 LIFE WOLFALPS Final Conference was held in Trento, Italy, where we participated and presented our research about grey wolves from Bosnia and Herzegovina. It was a unique opportunity to gain new information from the top level scientists and conservationists, about wolves from the Europe. We had opportunity to discuss with some of them, who are the most important creators of the wolf conservation and management plans at the European level and to present them our research what is of the greatest significant for our projects.

In February 2018, we participated to the 27th Rufford Conference Montenegro, Bar which was organised by Montenegro dolphin partners. We had opportunity to share and discuss about our research with other Rufford Grant recipients, to obtain new ideas for our next activities and to make collaboration with the other conservationists.
