

Project Update: January 2019

- A talk was given to students of the primary level of the Jose Hernandez School in the province of Jujuy; it was held in the Yala Lagoons located within the Potrero de Yala Provincial Park.
- In the talk we worked with posters with images of both species, so that the children could know, identify and differentiate both species of guans, and the vocalisation of the species of guans was made to the children.
- Walks were made through the reserve making known the environments that both species of turkeys use.
- Binoculars were provided so that children can search for the species of guans in the reserve.
- In addition, a guide was provided so that children know the species found in the reserve, which implies its importance, its conservation and its threats.
