

Project Update: January 2021

On January 14, 2021, we had a workshop in which we discussed with the fishers the activities of our project and the opportunities for partnerships that the community could make. At the workshop, all participants spoke, and we felt them very interested and committed to starting to articulate a community-based tourism on the spot. In the next workshops we will discuss themes related to tourism, ecology, partnership with the protection area and with private properties.

We are following the current national scenario and will keep you informed in the coming weeks.
