

Project Update: August 2021

Two weeks ago, we were on Lake Markovačko and did field research. In addition to ichthyological research, colleagues from the institute sampled the blood of black bullhead specimens to do micronucleus and comet tests. Also, a colleague from the Faculty of Biology sampled water, in order to perform a qualitative and quantitative analysis of phytoplankton. Also, the team of the Radio Television of Serbia was in the Centre for Fisheries and Applied Hydrobiology on Monday and recorded the experimental rearing of black bullheads, and on Tuesday on Lake Markovačko where they recorded our field work and did interviews with me and colleagues.

