

Project Update: February 2021

I am happy to inform you that I have finished implementing the project in one (Bandipur National Park) of the eight proposed sites. We surveyed one adult individual from 210 tourist groups visiting Bandipur National Park in February 2021. My team also took this as an opportunity to educate the tourists by telling them about the wildlife seen in the landscape that they were not aware of as well as by giving stickers of a lesser known species found in the project site. I will be communicating the results of my study with the park manager this week in the form of a detailed report. After that, I will be moving to my next site. Please find attached some photographs of our work as requested.
