

Project Update: October 2006

This study is the first phase of our three months project funded by Rufford Small Grants on Environmental Education Programme for the population living around the Deng Deng Forest in the East Province.

This study on the living condition of these people lay the ground work for the second phase of the programme which involves environmental education. We are presently using this study to strategise on the method to orient our environmental education programme for the various groups of people in this region. By the end of October 2006 we will be going to Deng Deng to engage in the environmental education programme when our environmental education guides for teachers and leaders of the region are ready.
