

Project Update: June 2023

I wanted to inform you that we had arrived in the field since June 19, 2023. We collected a species that was recently described as a new species by Ndolo and Buyck 2020 (Cantharellus xanthocyaneus holotype). We are the second to have discovered and collected. Attached are some images with the team made up of a bachelor's student, two natives and myself.
