

Project Update: November 2023

I am informing you that the project team is in Zanzibar since last week. After processing the working permit, we were able to meet with various stakeholders including The Director of Forest Department, Forest and Conservation officers to discuss about the implementation of the project. Also, the team continue to visit and sample seedlings from various tree nurseries located in Kusini Unguja. However, it's raining heavily here in Zanzibar but it's our expectation that planting of trees for the Phase I will start soon after all the seedlings have been collected and moved to project site.
